Re: Update on Your Request — We Have Written to the Leaders of Our Community Associations

PURPOSE OF THIS LETTER

To warmly update you, our members, that we have acted on your request from the public participation meeting of 4 July 2026 and have formally invited the leaders of Kalenjin community associations across Australia to a collaborative dialogue.

Dear Members and Friends,

1. With Gratitude and Good News

We write to you with warm greetings, deep gratitude, and encouraging news. At our Public Participation Meeting held on Saturday, 4 July 2026, you spoke with clarity and heart. A large majority of you asked us to reach out, in friendship and humility, to the leaders of Kalenjin community associations across the states, and to invite them into a shared conversation about the future of our people in Australia.

We are pleased to inform you that we have done exactly as you requested. A formal letter of invitation has now been written and extended to the leaders and executive committees of Kalenjin community associations nationwide, inviting them to a collaborative dialogue on building a united umbrella association.

2. What We Shared With the Leaders

In that letter, we carried your voice faithfully. We did not write as leaders imposing our will, but as servants of a process you have entrusted to us. We highlighted the very themes and requests you raised at the meeting — the same points we now share with you here.

Key points we conveyed on your behalf

Unity begins with leaders

We invited leaders to come together around one table for honest, good-faith dialogue — to build trust, not to assign blame.

Work together at the drawing board

We affirmed that we are still at the drawing board, and that all associations must be genuinely included before any major decisions — with transparency, public participation, and patience over haste.

Respect existing associations

We assured them that an umbrella body should complement, not compete with or undermine, the work of state and local associations, and that each association's identity, history, and autonomy must be honoured.

Individual and collective participation

We conveyed that members may participate on their own merit, while associations retain their own structures and leadership.

Merit-based, cooperative governance

We called for a structure that encourages ideas on their merit, limits personality politics, and avoids the divisions of the past.

Inclusivity for all

We emphasised a welcoming community for all Kalenjin members — youth and elders, all backgrounds — where everyone is heard and mentored.

Focus on community priorities

We highlighted advocacy, legal support, mental health, youth engagement, cultural preservation, investment welfare, sports, and pastoral knowledge exchange.

Accountability and clarity

We stressed transparent governance, defined objectives, and responsible stewardship of community resources.

A moderated leaders' summit

We proposed a meeting of association leaders — with agreed ground rules and neutral facilitation — as the most constructive next step.

3. Our Shared Vision

We also shared with the leaders the vision that unites us: that Gotabgaa Australia is envisioned as an umbrella national body with unique and greater objectives — not to duplicate the work of state associations, but to strengthen their objectives and achieve national progress for our community across Australia.

We reassured them, as we reassure you, that this is an invitation to dialogue — not an imposition. We are not asking any association to surrender its name, history, or independence, and Gotabgaa Australia does not seek to undermine, replace, or interfere with any association or its leadership.

4. A Word of Appreciation

To every member who attended, contributed, listened, and prayed for unity — thank you. Your maturity, patience, and goodwill are the true strength of our community. As you reminded us, true unity is not declared — it is built, through consultation, transparency, and good intentions.

We ask that we continue this journey together in the same spirit of love, peace, reconciliation, and unity. We will keep you informed of any response and of the next steps as they unfold.

5. Closing Words

We remain committed to serving you faithfully and to keeping the door of dialogue open to all. When our community stands together — guided by love for our people and a shared desire for peace and progress — we are always stronger than when we stand apart.

May our next steps be marked by unity, understanding, and the greater good of our community across Australia.

With warm respect, peace, love, and unity in purpose,

The Interim Leadership Team
